Texas Chili

Brown 1 lb. hamburger (not too dark) add some chopped onion, drain off grease, add 1 or 2 cans chili beans, 1 can (lge.) tomatoes, a bunch of seasoning (garlic salt, salt, pepper) Simmer slowly.

Red Chili

Brown h.b. or lean pork or round steak; add Crisco if needed to make a generous 2 TBSP. in pan. Add flour to thicken (1 TBSP flour to 1 TBSP grease), stir + cook very low (don't burn!)

Add some red chili (to taste) 3 TBSP?
powder, stir in water to make "gravy." Cook & stir, add garlic, s/p & oregano to taste. Cook long time

Better yet, buy Baca's Frozen Chili!

Pot Roast

Any good recipe-use a chuck or other "tough cut." Main thing!...slow, long, thorough browning. Red (dry) wine is nice as liquid instead of water.
Let roast cook long & slow.

Hints:

1. Never use high heat.
2. Take time.
3. A wire-whisk cures lumps.
4. Kraft dinner is fun!
5. A good dish: chicken legs, or thighs, shake-&-baked (a bit longer & lower heat than recommended.) Excellent hot with salad & (Kraft?) but also good cold, anytime!
6. Buy ladies' magazines for recipes! Casseroles! (over)

7. A nice casserole:
Red chili with meat, layered with corn tortillas, topped with cheese. Bake.

8. Canned soups make great sauce-bases-mushroom, chicken etc. (cream-of.)

9. Good old Velveeta - never forget it.

10. Always be careful of hot grease — again, down with high heat except for quick browning, special cases.
