Panned Steak Strips

1 flank steak (about 1 1/2 lbs.)
thinly sliced across the grain into strips no thicker than 1/8" (slices best when partially frozen)

4 t cornstarch
4 t vinegar
1 T sugar
1/2 t salt
1/4 t freshly ground pepper
4 slices bacon, cut into thin strips 1 large head iceberg lettuce, or romaine, cut across the head into 1/2" thick slices
2 green onions with green tops, thinly sliced 8 very thin slices fresh lemon (with peel)
cut into quarters

Toss steak strips with cornstarch, vinegar, sugar, salt & pepper, & allow to stand 30 min.

In a large skillet, slowly cook bacon until almost crisp; remove bacon from pan & remove from skillet any bacon fat in excess of 4 T. Heat remaining bacon fat in skillet until very hot.

Add beef & cook over very high heat for just a few minutes, tossing lightly to stir, just until browned; lift meat from pan.

Add lettuce, onions & lemon to pan & cook, tossing for just a min. or 2, until barely wilted & tender-crisp

Return beef & bacon to skillet & just heat through. Garnish with sliced green onions. Serve immediately. Makes 4 big servings
