

LUCIA'S POSOLE

Start out with a very large pot--an 8 quart dutch oven or an electric cooker and a 2 lb. pkg. of posole (in brine, not dry). Place the posole in a colander and rinse thoroughly 5 or 6 times. Dump the posole into the dutch oven, cover with water and soak over night. If a true gourmet, add a square foot of so of pigskin cut into strips and pigs feet, which really enhance the flavor.

4 lbs. lean pork, cut into cubes
3 to 4 medium white
onions, chopped)
4 cloves garlic, chopped
or 1 tbsp. garlic
1 tbsp. Cumin

1/4 to 1/2 c. red
chili powder,
(add to taste)
1/8 to 1/4 c. salt,
(add to taste)
1 tbsp. Chilimole
1 tbsp. Oregano

Bring posole and water to a boil and let simmer for 2 to 3 hours. Meanwhile, chop onions, garlic, cube pork; then add onions, garlic, salt and more water to the pot. Place 1/4 of the cubed pork in a frying pan to brown, sprinkling about 1/4 of all remaining ingredients on the pork while it is brown, dump it into the posole pot. Now brown another panful of pork and add proportionate share of remaining ingredients.

Keep doing this until all of the pork has been browned and added to the posole ~~to~~ pot. Then cover the pot (add more water if needed) and simmer 3 to 4 hours until the meat is fork-tender and the posole corn-kernels have "popped" and are fat and juicy. Total cooking time: 4 to 6 hours.
